#016:Liat Berdugo: Lonely (2014)

Think about what kind of person you are missing in your life.

A partner? A doglover? A babysitter? A good barber?

Make a new email account.

Name the new email account something which generically references that thing you are missing:

maybe it's the.other.partner@gmail.com,

the.best.dog.lover@gmail.com,

or make.my.buzzcut.better@gmail.com.

Give everyone you know the password to this new email account, give it to your mother, give it to your neighbor,

hell, spraypaint the password on walls if you want.

Tell people to email you anonymously

from this new email account,

as if they are that person the other partner,

the best dog lover, the betterbuzzcutter that you are missing.
