#131: Jonathon Keats: Dream Chain (2020)

When you wake up from a vivid dream, describe it to someone in another time zone who is about to go to sleep, so that the person might take up the dream where you left off.

The second person in the chain may reveal his or her segment of the dream to a third, again in a distant land where that person is getting ready for bed.

The dream chain circles Earth for as long as people care to sustain it.
Since each person holds only a fragment,
the entire dream belongs to the collective,
and may potentially extend to become a dream of the whole planet.
